

The following items are reproduced from the Announcement, 1914-15, California Chiropractic College, 2301 South Hope Street, Los Angeles, California.

California Chiropractic College.

Hanna H. Barber

Allen H. Brown

W. L. Burkh

Sarah Wood Clark

Joseph Booth

Louise Booth

J. Henry Brantley

Madeline Chiles

George Lambert

Robert Lottford

Andrew Drazer

Robert E. De Arment

Leonard La Doreau

Albert Victor Doune

J. M. Ellsworth

Elizabeth M. Ellsworth

Arthur M. Dicks

D. H. Carr

Robert Floss

R. A. Ouger

Judge Robert J. Adams

Sara J. Ouger

L. L. Gooden

F. W. Houston

G. Lynn H. Hicks

H. H. Hesel

D. B. Fitzgerald

Dr. W. W. Woodson

Dr. Ormsby Young

A. D. Kiefer

Harold Jacobson

Dorothea Kirk

A. A. Kicker

Dr. Mary Ritzman

Prof. J. E. Eckles

Ashbury LeBaron

A. M. Loring

Carrie Loring

A. R. Mather

Dr. Halcomb

Dr. T. O. W. Watson

L. Miller

Flora L. Paul

Gustav A. Nath

J. A. Pollock

Wm. Piquet

Louise V. Ryan

E. U. Robbins

Osa B. Richardson

M. P. Richardson

Prof. Eddie Robinson

Osa A. Fasson

Emma R. Swartz

A. E. Starkey

Omer L. Sharp

Carl P. Scheller

Jennie Scheller

Fannie H. Sanford

C. L. Tam

Maybell Watson

CLASS OF 1914

Handwritten signature: Handwritten Photo

above from inside front cover

“A.W. Richardson, A.B., D.C., who was president of the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic in 1912 and 1913, is President of the College, and takes personal charge of the clinics, has had a successful experience, not only as a Chiropractor, but also for sixteen years as city superintendent and principal of high school and athletic instructor, and was for two years at the head of the staff of the Oklahoma State Military Institute. He is a high school graduate and also graduated at the Lincoln Normal University, Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1893. Dr. Richardson has had sever years’ experience as a Chiropractor and has been called in consultation in a number of difficult cases with medical doctors and osteopaths, and is held in the highest respect by his acquaintances in the medical profession. We therefore have at the head of the institution a man possessing those qualities of preparation, experience and enthusiasm which should constitute the modern practitioner and teacher. His office is at the College” (pp. 3-4).

“Dr. Mae Perry Jason is a high school graduate, graduated from the Los Angeles College of Osteopathy, also the Pacific Medical College, taught two years in the Eclectic Medical College and conducted two quizzes for state examinations, and taught last year both in the regular and post-graduate courses the subjects of anatomy, physiology and diagnosis” (p. 9).